PREFACE

The Catalogue of Historical Microfiche Series - Statistical Publications 1901 to 1984 (Catalogue No. 1121.0), lists those publications which were released by Central Office of the Australian Bureau of Statistics in the period 1901 to 1984 and which are available on microfiche. These publications contain national statistics and in some cases include state breakdowns.

The complete set of the Historical Microfiche Series is available for sale at $15,000.

Work is currently being undertaken to provide updates to the Historical Microfiche Series for 1985 onwards. Such updates will be reflected in future releases of this catalogue.

The Historical Microfiche Series complements another significant source of official statistics on microfiche - the Colonial Microfiche Series 1804 to 1901 which was released in 1989. The Colonial Microfiche: Catalogue of Australian Statistical Publications, 1804 to 1901 (Catalogue No. 1115.0) is available free of charge. These two microfiche series provide an invaluable and compact reference to Australia's history as reflected by official statistics.

The Historical Microfiche Series is limited to publications which were released by Central Office and were of a quality suitable for reproduction on microfiche. The series contains no State specific publications.

The Catalogue of Official Statistical Publications, Publications Issued by Canberra Office, 1901 to 1984 (Catalogue No. 1112.0) lists all printed publications released by ABS Central Office in the period 1901 to 1984.

Requests for further information should be directed to Information Services, Canberra ABS office (see page xiii of this catalogue for contact numbers).

INTRODUCTION

The Australian Bureau of Statistics is the official statistical organisation for the Commonwealth and State Governments. Its main function is to collect statistical information on a wide variety of social and economic activities, to compile and publish statistics and disseminate them to Government, the private sector and the community in general.

This Catalogue lists all publications which have been released by ABS' Central Office, Canberra from 1906 to 1986 containing statistics covering the period 1901 to 1984, and which are available for purchase on microfiche (i.e. The Historical Microfiche Series - Statistical Publications 1901-1984).

Sections of the Catalogue

The Catalogue comprises the following sections:

- Part A - Publication Titles - a list of titles available on microfiche, listed in alphabetical order within subject group and subgroup. A short description of the subjects covered can be found at the beginning of each subgroup.
- Part B - Titles Index - a list of all titles referred to in Part A, in alphabetical order, referenced to the batch of microfiche in which the title can be found.
- Part C - Subject Index - a broad subject index referenced to the subgroup(s) in which the subject can be found.

How to use Parts A to C

Part A - Publication Titles

This section of the Catalogue is divided into subject groups and subgroups similar to those found in the Catalogue of Publications, Australia (1101.0).

Each subgroup is headed by a short description of the subjects covered in the subgroup. No description of the contents is provided for individual titles.

As most publications have had at least one title change over the years, the latest title has been presented as the main title. Earlier titles (where applicable) are listed underneath and relate to the titles found on the corresponding microfiche.

The main titles are listed in alphabetical order. Earlier titles, where included, are listed by period covered commencing with the earliest period.

On occasions it has not been possible to obtain copies of publications for microfiche. Where this has occurred a note has been included to indicate the issues which have not been microfiche.

Following is an example of an entry from Section A of the Catalogue. The parts of the entry have been annotated to assist readers.

• Selected Agricultural Commodities, Australia, Preliminary (10.2)(10.57)(7301.0)

Annual; issued: 1980-81 to 1983-84 _____ period covered

Preceded by:

Crop and Fruit Statistics, Australia (Preliminary), (10.57)(7301.0) 1974 to 1979-80

Includes:

Agricultural Statistics: Australia (Preliminary Statement), _____ earlier title and period covered 1962-63 to 1973-74

_____ associated title included in batch

Part B - Titles Index

This is an alphabetical index of all titles appearing in the Catalogue and includes both latest and earlier titles.

Beside each title is the microfiche batch number in which that title is included. It consists of two digits, followed by a point and two further digits (e.g. 01.13). The first two digits relate to an ascending serial number beginning with 01. The two digits after the point represent the subject of the subgroup in which the batch may be found. After having identified the batch number (e.g. 01.13) in the Titles Index, readers should go to the appropriate subgroup in Part A where they will find a complete list of titles included in the batch. For more details, see Numbering Systems below.

Part C - Subject Index

This is a broad subject index in alphabetical order and referring to subject matter contained in the publications listed.

The entries are indexed to subgroups in which the subjects can be located, not to individual batches. This index when used in conjunction with the Contents pages will facilitate the location of the correct microfiche.

Numbering Systems

Three separate numbering systems are used in this Catalogue.

This system is used purely as a reference aid. The batch number is a four digit number with a point dividing the digits into two pairs of digits, e.g. 01.13, 02.54.

The first two digits are the ascending serial number relating to the subgroup, e.g. 01 is the first batch of the subgroup, 02 the second, etc.

The second two digits indicate the subgroup in which the batch may be found.

Some subgroups contain one batch of microfiche only, depending on the total number of microfiche included. However, in some cases, e.g. Year Book, Australia, the title has been separated into more than one batch. The period covered in each batch is also included beside the batch number.

The second numbering system shown as part of the publication titles, is the Reference Numbering System which was used between 1901 and 1984.

The third numbering system is the ABS Catalogue Numbering System which commenced in 1977. This system is still used by the ABS and is also shown as part of the publication titles.

Main titles which do not have either or both of these numbering systems were released before 1961.

Microfiche Specifications

ABS publications are filmed on 148mm x 105mm microfiche, containing a maximum of 98 images per microfiche for standard A4 publications. The reduction rate is approximately 24 times. The publications have been filmed onto negative diazo microfiche.

Disclaimer

Due to the age and condition of source material, the reproduction quality of the microfiche may not be of a consistent quality.

Major reservations concerning microfiche quality may be directed to the above mentioned address.

Care Of Microfiche

The microfiche are polyester-base, diazo film duplicates, and they should be stored in their cabinet away from sources of ammonia and ozone. Ammonia can be found in many cleaning solutions, and ozone can be generated by photocopiers and laser printers.

Prolonged exposure to light may have adverse effects on image quality. We recommend that the microfiche be returned to the cabinet when not in use.

Continual handling of the microfiche, even under favourable conditions, causes some wear; but wear will be accelerated greatly by certain factors which can be controlled - scratching can occur if the microfiche are dirty or the equipment is poorly maintained; tearing or fingerprinting can occur if the equipment and handling methods are not suitable.

Dirt can be removed from the surface of the microfiche by wiping gently with a lintless cloth or proprietary microfiche cleaner.

Microfiche may be subject to chemical interactions when stored with microfiche of different generic types e.g., diazo microfiche should never be stored in the same container as silver-gelatin microfiche.

The use of rubber bands to contain microfiche is not recommended, as residual sulphur from the vulcanisation process can encourage growth of microscopic blemishes. Adhesive tapes, glues, many paper types and printing inks can have the same effect.

The potential life of the microfiche is heavily dependent on usage and storage conditions. For these microfiche, the recommended storage conditions are: a relative humidity of 15 and 60%; and a maximum continual storage temperature of 25°C.

Under normal storage and usage conditions the microfiche should retain their image quality for over 50 years.

HOW TO OBTAIN OTHER ABS STATISTICS

Information Consultancy Service

The Information Consultancy Service provides personalised data assistance to meet more complex information needs. Our consultants can help you if you have specialised information needs, such as tailored data compilations or in-depth data investigations. Our consultants work closely with you to help determine just what information you need. They can then locate the information for you. Information can be provided in the format of your choice, and may include a hard copy report (which can be mailed or faxed), computer diskette or simply a personal phone call.

Consultants have access to all the information available within the Bureau, including census and demographic data, industry, business and finance information, historical data and detailed information which may not be included in regular publications. Our consultants include professional librarians skilled in locating detailed historical references and data sources.

In addition, our consultants can tap the knowledge of subject-area experts throughout the Bureau, such as demographic or economic specialists, to help in your data search. For our frequent users, we can establish permanent Information Consultancy contacts to meet your information needs in a timely and personalised manner.

If you are interested in doing your own research work, but need some expert advice to help you clarify your information needs and organise your information search, the Information Consultancy Service is also your solution. Our consultants can advise you on alternative ways to locate the statistics you need and help determine which method is best for you.

These services may be obtained by calling at, phoning or writing to Information Services at any of the ABS offices listed below.

Mailing lists

Users of statistics may request to have their names and addresses placed on an ABS publications mailing list, thereby ensuring regular receipt of copies of publications.

Statistics available in other forms

Data are also available on microfiche, on magnetic tape, on floppy diskette and in the form of computer printout. The ABS Information Consultancy Service can advise whether information needed is available in these forms and how it can be obtained. At present a number of ABS publications are available on microfiche and the ABS expects to offer an increasing range of statistics on microfiche as this medium is further developed.
